City, police union sign first labor contract since 1991

■ City council, police union both unanimously approve a new police contract ending an impasse which started in 1991 and included a brief "blue flu" police walk-out in 1992

By Steve Marschke

A long-simmering labor dispute may have cooled off last week, after the West Sacramento City Council voted 5-0 on Wednesday to adopt a police officers' labor contract which had already been unanimously ratified by the city's police union.

The new contract will be the first since July 1991, although the city council has approved several interim pay raises for the police while negotiations were at an impasse.

The new contract calls for a two percent pay raise retroactive to July 1 of this year, as well as additional two percent raises on Jan. 1, 1995, and July 1, 1995. It expires in July, 1996.

It also calls for medical coverage for the officers and non-sworn personnel after their retirement -- a major point, said union president Martin Flatley.

"As of July 1 of 1995, we will have medical," said Flatley. "When an employee retires, he will have 100 percent coverage. That's something the (city) fire department has had since day one."

Flatley said the new contract is "pretty good."

"We've come a long way from where we were," he commented. "We're still far behind (the pay rates for police) in Sacramento. We'd like to see more money, but we also recognize the financial condition of the state and the city. But the feelings are a lot more upbeat."

The contract will include provisions for the department's non-sworn officers, who make up about a quarter of the union's 45 members. Some of those non-sworn officers, in a move supported by the majority of the city council last year, unsuccessfully attempted to break off from the police officers' union last year. But this move was rejected by the courts, said Flatley, since negotiations were underway.

The department's sergeants have successfully split from the officers' union and formed their own bargaining unit.

Mayor Cindy Tuttle, whose election to the city council was vigorously opposed by the police union in 1992, said she is happy that a new contract has been agreed upon.

"I feel really good about the contract," she commented. "I feel good it was approved by the council 5-0, and by the union unanimously. Now, hopefully we can close a chapter in the city's history and move on to other things."

Tuttle said she realized that the local police are still being compensated below "benchmark" levels derived from other jurisdictions, but said it just isn't possible for the cash-strapped city to remedy that right now.

"We couldn't bring (all the city's employees) to benchmark, because we don't have the money," she said. "But our goal was to bring everybody to within the same range of benchmark. We're going to do right by the people who work for us."

City councilman Roland Hensley, who has two sons on the West Sacramento Police Force (one is the president of the sergeants' union), said the pay raise for the officers will be good for the department. It will help the department recruit and retain better personnel, he said.

"I'm just happy we finally got a contract," Hensley commented. "Now we can move forward with building a better police force. We have the opportunity to do that now."

Former negotiator Wendell Phillips did not serve as chief negotiator for the union during the negotiations, union president Flatley reported.

Instead, that position was filled by Mark Kruger of Mastagni Holstedt & Chiurazzi in Sacramento.

No injuries in fire

By Steve Marschke

A fire at a West Capitol Avenue motel caused about $20,000 in damage on Sunday, but no one was injured.

The fire was reported at the Towne House Motel, 940 West Capitol Ave., shortly before 5 a.m., according to Battalion Chief Ken Sawitzky, Jr., of the West Sacramento Fire Department.

Three rooms burned at the motel, and the fire is believed to have been caused by cigarettes or smoking-related material. A total of 25 fire personnel, slong with four engines and one truck, were called to the scene during the three-alarm fire.

The Davis Fire Department provided one engine and crew to act as a standby in West Sacramento while local firefighters were committed to the motel fire.

Port readies for festival this weekend

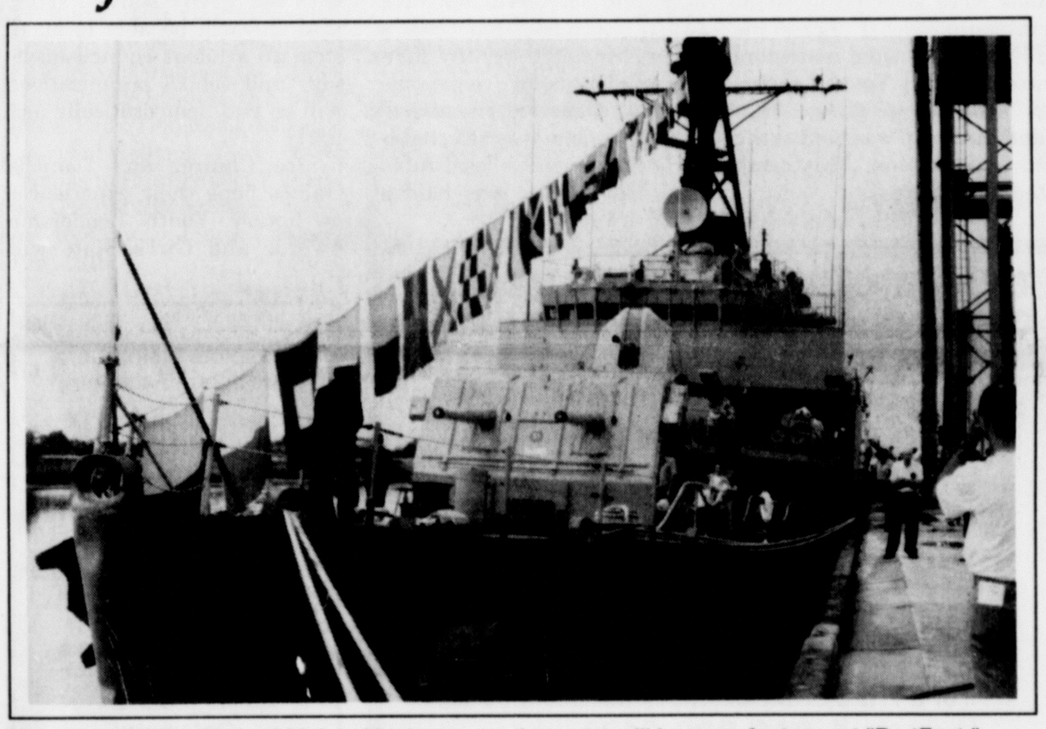
Presented by the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce and Port of Sacramento, Port Fest '94 is produced in association with Farmers Rice Cooperative, Union Pacific Railroad, Raley's, Capitol Coors, Cellular One, J.L. Sullivan Chevrolet/GEO and Toyota, Discovery Toys, Ramos Oil, Marine Terminals Corporation, Jones Washington Stevedores, Sacramento Aero, Cal Trans, Waste Management, California Association of Marine Parks and Harbors, SkyDance Skydiving and Sierra Spring Water.

"We expect this event to be one of the region's must-do outings," says Port Fest '94 committee chairman Wayne Enke. "If you've never been to the Port of Sacramento...here's your chance.

"There's a fun run on Sunday, lots of surprise visitors, a great selection of kids' activities, super food, great holiday gift ideas and literally dozens of pieces of unique equipment, cars and trucks on display. Music, shopping, food, sun, shade and unusual tour opportunities. Port Fest '94 is something special."



The "Netzahualcoyoti," a 390-foot Mexican navy destroyer, will be open for tours at "PortFest."

Enke adds that Port Fest '94 will be an educational experience, too. Visitors can learn about the importance of their regional port -- as well as see the equipment and meet the people that make it all work.

Jack Dunlap dead of apparent suicide

■ Long-time county and city planner, co-founder of little league dies at 70

By Steve Marschke

Jack Dunlap, whose baritone voice resonated through the microphones of the West Sacramento Planning Commission for the city's first seven years, died Sunday evening of an apparent suicide.

Friends indicated that Dunlap may have had health problems before his death.

Dunlap, 70, was appointed to the West Sacramento Planning Commission when the city was born, by Michael McGowan, the city's first mayor. He had previously served on the Yolo County Planning Commission, and had retired from a career with Mobil Oil. He was one of the founders of the West Sacramento Little League in the 1950s.

JACK DUNLAP as a West Sacramento Planning Commissioner

"He was our pillar of strength when we started the planning commission," said Charles Moore, Jr., who served with Dunlap on the West Sacramento Planning Commission. "He was the only one who had any experience on a planning commission. I have nothing but praise for the man."

Frank Ramos, an area businessman who was a friend of Dunlap's since the two met while working in the oil industry in 1954, called Dunlap's death is "a great loss."

Dunlap was a man "whose word was his bond," said Ramos, and was "a very civic minded individual."

"Jack was probably the finest planning commissioner Yolo County or West Sacramento ever had." Ramos continued. "He was a real articulate person, and could motivate the rest of the commission. I think he was a very well respected individual."

Ramos said that Dunlap's retirement life seemed to be going quite well, as Dunlap frequently indulged his love of playing golf and watching pro sports. His apparent suicide came as something of a shock.

"Jack was a very strong individual and a bright person," said Ramos, "and you'd think he would be the last person to do this."

But apparently Dunlap had been suffering from a great deal of pain -- complications from gall bladder surgery a couple of years ago.

Sgt. Ray Hensley of the West Sacramento Police Department provided some de-

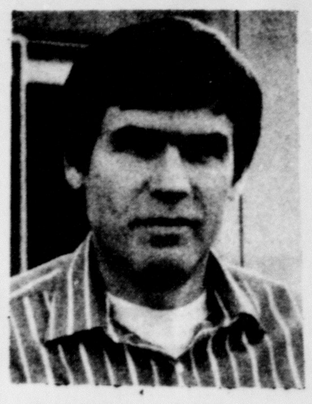
Delightful book challenges worship of youth

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

I visited an old friend of mine the other day, and when I got up to leave, she handed me a favorite book of hers and said, "You might want to look through this. I just finished it and it's really wonderful--and there might even be a column in it."

The book--entitled "When I Am An Old Woman I Shall Wear Purple"--turned out to be a delightful collection of stories and poems that evoke the beauty, humor, and courage of women living in their later years. It takes a really refreshing look at the topic of aging and calls into question the glorification of youth which so dominates American culture. Here are a few selections which I would like to share with you:

Dear Paul Newman--by Marie Kennedy Robins

After all these years
it's over between you and me.
There's a younger man.
I get to see him five times a week and he tries to bring me the world.
I worried a lot about your racing in them fast cars, your beer drinking, the fact that the color of your eyes is fading a little with age.
Them eyes always reminded me of Ed Kozelka who sat next to me in American History.

When you and Ed turned them blues on me,
it sure made my pilot light blaze up.
When reporters asked why you was faithful to Joanne, you once said,
"Why should I go out for hamburger when I can have steak at home?"
Now that Joanne is looking so plain,
I wonder if you are going to Wendy's?

Paul baby, it was fun, and I'll never forget your spaghetti sauce, but I gotta move on.
I'm the same age as you, but in the dark,
Peter Jennings will never notice.

Love At Fifty--by Marcia Woodruff

We come together shy as virgins with neither beauty nor innocence to cover our nakedness, only these bodies which have served us so well to offer each other.
At twenty we would have dressed each other in fantasy, draping over the damp flesh, or turned one another into mirrors
so we could make love to ourselves.
But there is no mistaking us now.
Our eyes are sadder and wiser as I finger the scar on your shoulder where the pin went in,
and you touch the silver marks on my belly,
loose from childbearing.
"We are real," you say, and so we are, standing here in our simple flesh whereon our complicated histories are written, our bodies turning into gifts at the touch of our hands.

A Checklist--by Joanne Seltzer

Platitudes--by Joanne Seltzer

Mother is with God.
Mother is at rest.
Mother is with Dad.
Mother was ready to go.
Mother has paid her dues.
Mother is still with us.
Mother loved life.
Mother lived a full life.

News from River City High: two go to leadership camp

By Rhapsody Flores, RCHS

This summer, two students from River City High School were selected to attend summer leadership camps. Daniele Gaines and Joe Chairez attended Rotary Youth Leadership Awards (RYLA). Danielle also attended Girl's State.

Joe Chairez and Danielle Gaines were selected by West Sacramento's local Rotarians and River City's administrators to attend Rotary Youth Leadership Awards (RYLA). This leadership camp was held at the Feather River Inn. This camp lasted for one week.

Joe and Danielle were involved in a camp council and heard many informative speakers. Joe and Danielle feel the most helpful skills learned at RYLA were communication, job, and memory skills. Both believe the skills they learned at RYLA are going to be best used in creating better communication and understanding between the leadership class at River City and the entire River City student body.

Danielle Gaines attended Girl's State. Danielle was selected by West Sacramento's local Auxiliary. Girl's State was held at Sonoma State University for one week. Danielle attended this camp with 500 girls selected from high schools all over the state of California. Danielle feels the most helpful piece of information learned at Girl's State is how much one person's vote can matter in today's society. Danielle hopes, with her newly learned skills, that she will be able to make sure all student council meetings and school organizations will be run democratically and fairly.

Joe Chairez and Danielle Gaines hope their experiences at Rotary Youth Leadership Awards and Girl's State will help benefit River City's student council and leadership class in many ways. Both students feel the opportunity to have attended these leadership camps has given them skills and basic knowledge that will help them in their chosen careers of the future.

The Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

The 49ers took care of the Lambs in L.A. this past weekend 34-19, but the real story was the signing of free agent Deion Sanders. Three players had their contracts restructured to allow the 49ers to pay Sanders $1.2 million and fit him under the salary cap.

Deion will start this Sunday in San Francisco against the 15-point underdog New Orleans Saints. The Raiders (1-2) put a terrible beating on John Elway and the 0-3 Broncos. Sunday's 48-16 loss marked Denver's worst loss to its AFC West rivals in more than 25 years.

The Denver fans and media are asking for coach Wade Phillips to resign after surrendering the most points at home since a 56-10 loss to Kansas City in 1966.

Denver travels next week to Buffalo for a Monday night game. The World Champion Dallas Cowboys (2-1) suffered their first loss in 10 games, losing to the Lions 20-17 on Monday night. The Cowboys hadn't lost a game since last Thanksgiving Day!

The Sacramento Gold Miners (5-5-1) face Doug Flutie and the Calgary Stampeders (9-2) on Saturday at 6 p.m. at Hornet Field. The Gold Miners have been playing well lately and are coming off a 56-3 victory over the Shreveport Pirates last Saturday. The Miners are still in the hunt for a playoff spot. Only 13,741 fans showed up last Saturday but the Gold Miners are anticipating a good turnout against the first-place Stampeders.

The "Unfinished Business" fight card in Las Vegas turned out just as expected before a sold-out crowd at the MGM Grand Hotel. Don King really put on a tremendous undercard that featured the rematch from four and a half years ago, between Julio Cesar Chavez and Meldrick Taylor. Chavez landed a devastating left hook and overhand right that stopped Taylor in the eighth round.

Taylor was winning the fight until Julio landed the big blows. Felix Trinidad knocked out undefeated Yori Boy Campas to retain his IBF title and Gabriel Ruelas' upset victory took away James Lejias' WBC title.

Frankie Randall out-pointed Juan Coggi after knocking the champion down four times to win the WBA title.

See ya next week!!

City sponsors leagues

The City of West Sacramento Department of Parks and Community Services, in conjunction with the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, is sponsoring a 5k run/walk to be held at the Port of Sacramento. The event will be held on Sunday, September 25, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The department also has information available for the 1994-95 adult basketball league. League play will begin on October 30.

For more information on either of these events, please call 373-5860.

Local softball team plays in state novice team tourney in Martinez

The last part of this article was inadvertantly clipped from last week's News-Ledger. With apologies, the editor brings the story back again:

By Leo Medina

On Saturday, September 3, Pizza Pub Softball Club of West Sacramento went to the State Novice Tourney in Martinez.

The boys from the pub dropped their first game by a score of 9-8 in nine innings. Fine defensive plays were turned in by Greg Baker, Matt Baldwin, and Eric Thomkins. In the fourth inning, left fielder Greg Baker made a daring catch down the left field line that looked like it was going for extra bases. In the fifth inning, Matt Baldwin, the right fielder, made a nice catch down the right field line. One inning later, Eric Thomkins, the little first baseman, made a fine snag on a screaming line drive just about out of his reach. The little first baseman showed his springs snatching the ball out of the air as he was falling backwards. Leading hitters in the first game were Tony Polam, pitcher, who turned in a very impressive 5-5 as the team from Mr. A's Pizza couldn't get him out in five trips to the plate. Mr. A's won the game in the bottom on the ninth inning on a homerun. Pizza Pub went down 10-0 in the final game. Mike Sandoval was 2-2 and played a good game at shortstop. Team members for Pizza Pub were catcher Tony Wiench; pitcher Tony Polani; 1st baseman Eric Thomkins; 2nd baseman Aaron Carrion; shortstop Mike Sandoval; 3rd baseman Jeff Barnard; left fielder Greg Baker; left center fielder Mike Stinson; right center fielder and coach Leo Medina; and right fielder Matt Baldwin.

Coach Leo Medina and the rest of the team wish to thank Pizza Pub for their sponsorship. Pizza Pub currently plays on Tuesday night at Bryte Park and has a 1-2 record. This was Pizza Pub's first trip to the State Tourney and they hope to go back again next year. For now, they can just concentrate on winning their next game on Tuesday night. Win, lose or draw, they will be down at Pizza Pub after the game. Coach Leo Medina says, "We have a fine nucleus for a team. It just takes playing together for awhile to have the team jell as a unit. Next year at the state tourney maybe we can make a little more noise!"

News-Ledger Editorial

Land tax discussion may be a blessing in disguise

It was a good thing that the Port of Sacramento is talking about imposing a new land tax.

No, the tax probably won't happen, at least while the economy in California is in the shabby state it is now in. But the possibility of the new tax has drawn much-needed attention to the Port, which occupies a sizable chunk of the middle of West Sacramento.

People from throughout Sacramento County and eastern Yolo County (the areas which would presumably be called upon to pay the new land assessments), are now sitting up and taking notice.

They are now interested in learning what the Port does, how much success it has, what its real estate resources are, and what kind of a future the facility has. After all, no one wants to make an investment from their own pocket until they figure out what the return will be to the Sacramento region.

The Port should be scrutinized just like an ordinary business which is looking for outside financing: does it have a business plan? Will the business plan work? And what is the return on the investment?

These, of course, are questions which have often been asked on this page and by a small number of locals. But they will never be thoroughly answered until they are asked by the "powers that be" in Sacramento -- the same powers which have been woken up by this talk about a new parcel tax, and are now taking interest.

CHP officers aren't 'speed demons' who live for chase

By Commissioner Maury Hannigan
California Highway Patrol

Critics of police pursuits sketch officers as eager chase participants who covertly relish the role of hound hot on trail of hare. The preferred descriptive words include "macho," "intimidation," and "responding to a challenge." But the rendition is no more than a stick drawing; it fails to capture the human being beneath the uniform.

A two-decade veteran of the California Highway Patrol, with scores of thousands of miles on the road -- and enough pursuits to make him both wise and cautious -- says he has never known an officer who enjoys pursuit. Pursuit is a process; the object is apprehension.

"Apprehending is very satisfying, because that's our job," he says. "Highway Patrol officers want to do their job. Apprehending criminals is a fundamental part of that job." He leaves the clear message that confusing the importance of apprehension with desire to pursue is a serious distortion of CHP officers' outlook.

His description of the mature pursuer puts it this way: "There are ways and there are ways to pursue. We control the situation. We keep the pursued vehicle in sight; we don't ride the rear bumper. No reckless abandon; it's calculated low key, vs. tense. The experienced pursuer keeps it that way, the situation in hand. Even time can be an ally."

Do CHP officers cancel pursuits? "Of course, when circumstances warrant." He describes two incidents. A pickup truck came on the freeway at high speed, then accelerated. The officer, already on the freeway, pursued. The pickup roared into a fog bank, with headlights off, and disappeared. The officer quickly aborted (only later learning that the pickup driver had compounded foolishness by leaving the freeway via an entry ramp). Another time, a rocketing motorcycle headed for a school zone, and the officer ended the pursuit.

"When I'm in a pursuit, I don't think personally about the man or woman ahead, or the psychology of the situation," he said. "I think procedure -- talking to dispatch, keeping them aware of where we are, of the situation, where we're heading, what my next step should be. I try to be ready for what the pursued vehicle might do. The objective is to remain under control."

Real police pursuits occasionally make it to television when a news helicopter happens to obe in the right place. Two vehicles flashing across the screen probably don't symbolize "control" t the viewer, who has been bombarded by dozens of synthetic chases on prime time dramatic shows. These suggest anything but "control."

But for responsible police agencies, control accurately describes their approach to pursuit situations. Which means that officers must have a clear understanding of policy, must be exceptionally well-trained, must know that management is truly concerned, and must realize that policy violations will result in disciplinary action.

The CHP veteran notes that "Highway Patrol officers are well schooled in all of these points, and they handle pursuits accordingly. They know they will be critiqued, and that influence the conduct of pursuits.

"Officers also operate within two sets of limitations. One is their own capabilities; they have to know what they can't do. The other is the capabilities of the vehicle; some things a car can't do."

He also observes wryly that when "we do something wrong, which is rare, it's big news. When we do something right, which is typical, it's no news." The public concept of pursuits, based on incomplete knowledge, is correspondingly lopsided.

"Officers have the duty to enforce and apprehend," this experienced officer points out. "I think the public agrees with that definition of our responsibility. But they expect us to perform as professionals, and that means putting safety first, for both public and officers. We do; after all, going home to dinner tonight is an objective for us, too."

Letters to the Editor

Senior Center

An Open Letter to Members of the West Sacramento City Council:

We would like to make our first withdrawal for the total amount of $25,854.77 from the Senior's Clubhouse Fund. This is the total, as of June 30, 1994. Please make out the check to: EAST YOLO SENIOR CLUB, within 30 days of this request.

We have waited for over seven years for the start of a senior clubhouse. Many of the taxpayers who worked to raise this money are gone; about five of us are left. We are not going to look back.

We are no longer allowed to have the fundraisers at the Cummins Way facility, due to a new directive.

We plan on using this money to keep the club going and, for those who are left, to enjoy the years (or even months) that remain.

It is up to the seniors in our community in the coming years to get a senior center built.

After the club deposits the check to their account, we will match the contribution of the Golden Years Club and deposit $5,000 in a CD account for furniture, or what may be needed for any future senior center.

We will continue to apply for grants for services which the seniors may desire. We are presently funding the driver for the city's mini-van to transport people to and from the senior center for week-day meals. We also have paid for a VCR, the PA system, a piano, and the peer counseling services.

JUANITA LOPEZ, PRESIDENT
East Yolo Seniors' Club

Muse:

I am bound to bend your readers ear one more time to apologize to letter writer Hope Herr. After searching through my files I found the letter containing no name which I had falsely accused her of writing about the trains in back of my property. I regret any hard feelings this may have caused to her. Now I will agree with her to show my sorrow for the duress I have caused to her. I was seven years old in 1931 when New York governor Franklin D.Roosevelt "A Republican" made a campaign speech in which he said, if I am elected our president in 1932 I promise you no mothas son will evah have to go ovah seas, in the meantime we were selling Japan millions of ton of scrap iron to make weapons and ships, etc., etc. Then came December 7, 1941, they hit us with all that metal while president Roosevelt was caught sleeping. The republicans have caused all the wars -- WWII, Korea, Vietnam and Desert Storm, while the democrats went into Granada where there were hundreds of Americans whose lives were in danger and Panama the dope czar of this hemisphere and kicked some butt. I have survived nine presidents some democrats and some republicans and about the only thing different about them is the label. President Carter a republican oversaw escalating interest rater to the tune of 13% and along came that Reagan a democrat and threw a monkey wrench into the works and brought the interest down to about 5% now that is just how much more smart and industrious the democrats are compared to the republicans. Ms. Herr speaks of the gun fiasco just how u American the republicans were at the gun confiscation circus were. She seems to have forgotten there were 46 rotten democrats who voted against it but don't forget Hitler did it first. They passed the Beady Bill, we have had a 15-day waiting period for years and it didn't make any noticeable difference -- I must say you are a true democrat you stick with your party right or wrong. I think all republicans should vote the democrat ticket, it would stop all violence and no more wars and we would be on easy street. The war with Haiti. Reminds me of Blade and Popeye and Popeye with no spinach this should make our president feel like Blade, Ms. Herr I (hope) this makes your day.

STRENUOUS OBJECTION WILL BE MADE TO WITHDRAWAL OF CAR LINE TO WEST SACRAMENTO

GREAT INDUSTRIES WILL SEND PROTESTS TO RAILROAD COMMISSION OBJECTING TO CONTEMPLATED ACTION

To the request of the Sacramento Northern Railroad to withdraw its street car service to West Sacramento, strenuous objection is about to be offered by the residents of the district and the large industries established there now.

It was the convenience of a street car service that prompted most of those industries to settle in West Sacramento. It was the convenience of a street car service that prompted many property owners to buy in West Sacramento.

It is unfortunate at the present time that the request should be made by the railroad authorities, for this withdrawal, because it is estimated that before next January there will be sufficient revenue forthcoming to amply repay it for its loss now being sustained.

The Virden Packing Company will start operations probably soon after the first of the year. Hundreds of men will be employed on the buildings and grounds of the corporation and hundreds of residents of Sacramento will take advantage of the street car service to reach their work in the factories and rice mills of West Sacramento.

Already protests have been sent to the Railroad Commissioners against the withdrawal of the service and it is probable that a public meeting will be called in the near future to formulate plans so that the objection to withdrawal may be collective on the part of the property owners and interested factories of the district.

The Sacramento Northern complains in its request for withdrawal that it is unable to collect $4,983.37 from the West Sacramento Company, which was promised under contract on the establishment of the carline. This may be true, but since the West Sacramento Company has been refinanced, in all likelihood, the payment will be forthcoming in the very near future.

In an effort to obtain the inside facts regarding the question, Mr. Rowray, President of the Sacramento Northern, was sought by The Independent yesterday, but because of his absence from Sacramento the effort was unsuccessful.

It is believed, however, that an amicable arrangement will be made for the service to be continued as it has been during the past three years.

FIRE TRUSTEES WILL DANCE TOMORROW EVENING

Details have been completed for the dance to be given by the Fire Trustees of Washington at the Town Hall to-morrow evening.

Practically all the tickets have been sold and many outsiders are expected, especially from Woodland where the county authorities have given the matter almost unanimous endorsement. Many tickets were sold in Sacramento and a large crowd is expected from there.

It is the object of the Trustees to devote the returns from the dance toward purchasing additional fire fighting apparatus.

The music for the dance will be furnished by the Washington Jazz Orchestra.

The hall has been decorated in appropriate colors by several ladies who are anxious to make the affair a great success.

51 SACKS BARLEY TO ACRE RAISED

Clarksburg, Sept. 5.—F. Sparling obtained 51 sacks of common barley to the acre on a 70-acre piece. This barley was grown on the Holland Land Company property and received only ordinary cultivation and attention. Mr. Sparling, in order to be positive as to the yield, had the land resurveyed, and now claims the record for Yolo County.

PALM A HEAVY LOSER THROUGH FIRE IN HOP KILN

Last Sunday at midnight E. A. Palm received a phone from his men at Consumnes that his hop drying plant on the ranch was on fire with no possible chance of saving it.

He hurried to the ranch, breaking all speed records, and on arriving there found his kiln with about 130,000 pounds of hops entirely consumed without any possible salvage.

On 400 bales for which he had contracted sales he held $15,200 insurance, and on the balance, about 200 bales, he held $20,000 insurance.

About 30 bales which had just been picked and not yet placed in the dry-house were saved.

Mr. Palm can offer no reason for the fire outside of the fact that the fall of rain might have caused a short circuit and started the fire. Several men were at work in the building in whom he had absolute confidence.

Through the fire Mr. Palm stands to lose about $35,000.

Hops are now selling at 60 cents per pound. Over and above his contracted lot he had about 200 bales which would have brought about $25,000. His buildings and other losses neared the $10,000 mark in value.

This loss falls heavy on him, because he expected very soon to retire and is a sufferer from rheumatism.

He is full of courage, however, and is going at the business again with renewed energy.

The owl cars in San Francisco are a losing game since prohibition came.

There are lots of games that will be losing ones if real prohibition should ever come.

BILE, BITTERNESS, ENVY, HATRED AND MALICE

In the contest conducted during the State Fair to select a name for cigarettes made from tobacco grown in Yolo County the following were suggested:

"El Esparto," "Yolo," "Flako," "Nonpareil," "Yolensis," "California Beauty," "Pride of California," "Our Flower," "Yolo Gold," "Heart of California," "California Luxury," "Pronogus" and "My Own Delight."

But a correspondent of the prohibition organ of the county, the Home Alliance, writes:

Editor Home Alliance:

I see that some tobacco-raisers of Yolo County offer a prize (?) of 1000 cigarettes for a suitable name for a new brand of cigarettes to be manufactured out of Yolo County tobacco. Keeping in mind what the educators say of the effect of smoking cigarettes upon the youthful intellect; what the doctors say of the effect upon the human system in general; and what I have observed and smelt when among cigarette smokers, I am tempted to submit a few names that to me seem appropriate. Here are a few:

Macquereaux' Delight.
Youth's Corruptor.
Early Decay.
Brain Torpor.
Antidote for Politeness.
Helps to Suicide.
Cuspidor Fragrance.
Coffin Worm.
Cure for Pure Breath.
The Stinkerette.

These are the chief of the suitable names that occur just now, but if inducement is offered, some more will be furnished.

Very respectfully,
PUREAIR LOVER.

tails of Dunlap's death.

Shortly before 5 p.m. on Sunday, Dunlap's wife, Helen, returned home from a ten-minute shopping trip to find her husband unconscious.

"He had a gunshot wound," said Hensley. "He was taken to the UCD Medical Center, where he was later pronounced dead."

Dunlap had apparently shot himself in the head with a handgun in the couple's Maryland Avenue home.

An investigation is continuing, said Hensley, although all indications point to suicide.

History society celebrates

By Virginia Seamans

The West Sacramento Historical Society will be celebrating the successful completion of its first year of existence with a birthday party to which the public is invited.

The meeting will begin promptly at 6:30 p.m. in the community room of the Turner Library, 1212 Merkley Ave., on Tuesday, September 27, and will adjourn at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be seved during the evening.

The officers will present a brief review of what has been accomplished since the first meeting one year ago.

Featured event of the evening will be reminiscences by Virginia Ortiz. She was born Virginia Long in Oklahoma Territory in 1904. When she was 5, her father worked for one year as a commercial fisherman in Broderick, after which the family moved to Oregon for a few years before returning to the Sacramento area. She married and moved to Broderick in 1926. Her six children grew up in Broderick, attending local schools. The five oldest went to Woodland High School; the youngest, Paula, attended James Marshall High School. Come hear what more Virginia has to tell us.

For further information about the Historical Society, you may call Bryan Turner at 371-6915 or Louisa Vessell at 451-5749.

New Broderick plan to be penned by PBR

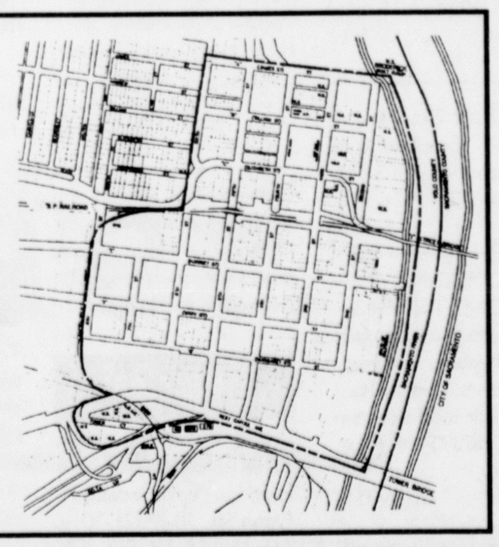
NOTICE

OF PUBLIC WORKSHOP
WASHINGTON SPECIFIC PLAN

The City of West Sacramento Community Development Department has begun preparation of a Specific Plan and Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the area known as Broderick. The plan will be called the "Washington Specific Plan" and will cover the area bounded roughly by the Broderick Boat Ramp on the north, the Sacramento River on the east, West Capitol Avenue on the south, and 8th Street on the west (see map).



The City has hired PBR as a consultant to assist in the preparation of this Plan and related EIR. The purpose of the Plan is to create a land use plan for the area which is consistent with the City's adopted General Plan and which will stimulate economic recovery in the area. The EIR will address the potential environmental effects of the new Plan.

The City will hold a second workshop to hear public comments on the plan's goals, objectives and alternative plan concepts. Comments, suggestions, and questions are encouraged at this workshop. The meeting will be held at the following location and time.

Date: September 22, 1994
Time: 6:00 to 8:00 p.m.
Place: West Sacramento Senior Center
Multi-purpose Room
664 Cummins Way
West Sacramento

You are encouraged to attend this meeting and assist the City in planning for the future of this area. Please contact Ms. Terry Roberts of the Community Development Department at 1951 South River Road, West Sacramento, CA 95691, telephone (916)373-5854 if you have any questions or would like additional information regarding this project.
